

Charmborough Bells

“Ringing the changes”

This portable ring of 6 bells has been provided by The Charmborough Bell Trust to promote change-ringing, which originated in English churches in the 17th century and is still going strong today.

Each bell rotates backwards and forwards, sounding once as it rotates in each direction. By changing the speed of rotation, the ringers cause the bells to sound in different orders according to a pre-arranged permutation or “method”.

Learning to ring involves learning to handle and control a bell and then learning “methods”. Ringing is enjoyed by girls, boys, men and women of any faith and none, from the age of around 9 to 99, and we are keen to recruit and teach new ringers.

If you are interested in learning, speak to one of the ringers or e-mail charmboroughbells@gmail.com

For more information visit www.charmborough.org

The Charmborough Bell Trust is a registered charity in England and Wales, number 1126164.

Charmborough Bells

“Ringing the changes”

This portable ring of 6 bells has been provided by The Charmborough Bell Trust to promote change-ringing, which originated in English churches in the 17th century and is still going strong today.

Each bell rotates backwards and forwards, sounding once as it rotates in each direction. By changing the speed of rotation, the ringers cause the bells to sound in different orders according to a pre-arranged permutation or “method”.

Learning to ring involves learning to handle and control a bell and then learning “methods”. Ringing is enjoyed by girls, boys, men and women of any faith and none, from the age of around 9 to 99, and we are keen to recruit and teach new ringers.

If you are interested in learning, speak to one of the ringers or e-mail charmboroughbells@gmail.com

For more information visit www.charmborough.org

The Charmborough Bell Trust is a registered charity in England and Wales, number 1126164.